3. After hearing at length, the order was reserved. However as recorded in para no.3 of the said order, the Financial Creditor was also directed to file an affidavit attaching therewith the communication issued by the Applicant/ Bank to the Personal Guarantor invoking the guarantee. One week time was granted for placing on record the said communication by way of an affidavit. Apart from the aforesaid documents, the written submissions was also required to be filed by the respective parties within a period of one week. As stated above, the matter was heard and reserved on 02.07.2024 and one week time for filing the aforesaid documents as well as the written submissions by the Applicant/ Bank, has expired on 09.07.2024.
4. The present application however, has now been filed, seeking another two weeks time and placing on record the aforesaid communication as well as the written submissions. Even with the present application, prayer is only for seeking extension in time and the aforesaid documents have still not come on record.
5. Since the matter has already been reserved, the prayer made in the present application as recorded earlier, does not seem to be the simplicitor prayer for seeking extension of time for filing the aforesaid communication as well as the written submissions, but it also implies deferment of pronouncement of the order, which has been reserved on 02.07.2024 in the aforesaid matter.
6. However, while considering the request made on behalf of the Financial Creditor for granting extension of time, we are constrained to observe that the aforesaid documents ought to have been placed right in the first instance, if not then the order dated 02.07.2024 ought to have been complied with, or the application if at all was to be filed for seeking extension of time ought to have come along with the relevant documents. That being not the position, we are constrained to impose the cost of Rs.40,000/- upon the Financial Creditor to be deposited in the 'Prime Minister's National Relief Fund'.

7. Subject to deposit of the aforesaid cost, the application is allowed and the aforesaid communication by way of an affidavit along with written submissions be filed within a period of two weeks from today.
8. With the aforesaid observations, the present IA No.357/2024 stands disposed off accordingly.
